

ABOUT THE PROGRAM:

The City of Troy partnered with American Clothing Recycling to provide convenient locations for residents to bring their textiles for reuse and recycling.

In 2022, 21 tons

of textiles were reused or recycled
through this program in Troy.

Textiles can take up to 200 years to break down completely once they reach the landfill. By keeping textiles out of your household garbage, the items may be reused by those in need, or recycled into new things!

The U.S. EPA estimated nationwide

11.3
million tons of textiles were sent to landfills in 2018.

WHAT ARE TEXTILES?

Textiles can include:

- clothing
- belts
- blankets
- curtains
- drapes
- gloves
- hats
- handbags
- paired shoes
- sheets
- towels
- sneakers
- stuffed animals

HOW IT WORKS:

Bag and bring your clean and dry textiles to one of five locations throughout Troy, free of cost. Simply place your bag within the drop box, and American Clothing Recycling will handle the rest. Stained, ripped, and non-wearable textiles will be accepted. Textiles should not have mold or chemical residue on them.

The textiles will be brought to communities in need, or shredded to create things like rags (for cleaning), animal bedding, or insulation.
